

Webinar invitation: A lawyer's guide to avoid being sued - 21 March 2022

Stewarts and NACCS are pleased to invite you to a webinar covering clinical negligence claims and how to avoid them. Please see below for details:

Date: Monday 21 March 2022

Time: 6.00pm - this will be a 45 minute talk with time for questions afterwards

Location: Online via Zoom

Register here: https://stewartslaw.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_pOKuxpBOQ8egmCFnnEFPfA

The session will feature an introduction from Craig Carroll, Honorary Treasurer of NACCS and Consultant Anaesthetist at Salford Royal Foundation Trust and will cover the following:

- Clinical negligence claims – general principles and why poor care or a bad outcome often does not lead to a claim
- How common are negligence claims today in the UK
- Common mistakes and how to avoid them - Continuity of care, communication, record keeping, administrative errors
- Examples of specific cases relating to anaesthesia and critical care
- The importance of indemnity insurance for clinicians – NHS v Private Practice
- Q and A

Register here: https://stewartslaw.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_pOKuxpBOQ8egmCFnnEFPfA

Speakers

Amy Fielding
Senior Associate, Stewarts

Amy specialises in complex, high-value, catastrophic injury clinical negligence claims. She has particular expertise in obtaining the highest value fatal accident claims for high net worth individuals with complex and in depth future loss claims.

Nadia Kreuger-Young
Senior Associate, Stewarts

Nadia acts in complex, high-value clinical negligence cases, mainly involving spinal cord injury and brain injury. She acts for claimants against private doctors, hospitals and the NHS.

Dr Craig Carroll
Consultant Anaesthetist, Salford
Royal Hospital.

Having qualified in 1993 after medical school in Manchester, Craig spent time in Queensland, Australia doing Emergency Medicine before returning to the northwest for anaesthesia training. Following the completion of Specialist Training, Craig spent time working at the Walton Centre, Liverpool before taking up a substantive in 2002 at Salford Royal.

